

Star in your own music video

In this workshop your group will plan, shoot, star in and edit a section of a famous (or not so famous) music video, guided through the whole process by our team of professional filmmakers.

A fun class exercise, where everyone is introduced to the full range of film skills – development and planning, camerawork, sound recording, performing and editing. Students will explore the conventions of the medium, including representations of the artist, the use of narrative, symbolism and visual style.
